

I just wanted to forward my recommendation for Denman Moody. I've known Denman for a number of years, and it is our common love of wine that first connected us. As in so many areas, there is just no substitute for experience, and Denman certainly has decades of that as a professional oenophile. His depth and breadth of experiences with wines from all over the world is something of which I am quite jealous.

My wife and I are what I would call advanced enthusiasts. We travel to the Northern California Wine Country multiple times a year. Over the years we have narrowed and refined our palate and our preferences for wine. But we are nowhere near talented and experienced like Denman. I am very strategic and calculating when planning a visit. We had the privilege of traveling with Denman recently and he did all of the planning for us. It was one of the most fabulous trips we had ever taken.

The contacts Denman has, and the wineries he set us up to visit were top of the line. These are places the average Joe is not even going to know about, much less gain access to. We had some of the most amazing tasting experiences we have ever had. It was a visit to Napa and Sonoma like no other! They say it's not what you know, but who you know. At all of the tastings Denman set up for us, we were welcomed with open arms like we were family. These were all private, sit down, exclusive tastings.

This was truly a VIP experience like none before. The beauty of this is that this is a custom designed tasting and travel experience. When Denman gets to know your likes, dislikes, taste profile, and your wine country tasting history, he will hand select tastings that fit that profile. No more standing at a crowded tasting bar at a winery with a neon sign along Highway 29.

I would highly recommend taking advantage of Denman's decades of contacts, relationships, experience, and overall wine knowledge to assist you in planning a wine country visit that you will remember and treasure the rest of your lives!
